VoIP Phone Number porting issue/poblem in USA

Sunday, July 12th, 2009

FYI,

This is an article on PC World of an customer who had problem of porting a number from Broadvoice to Vonage for 177 days until FCC getting involve.

VoIP Number Hassle — You Can't Take It With You

http://www.pcworld.com/article/168165/voip_number_hassle_you_cant_take_it_with_you.html

I got a similar situation when I tried to port my phone number from Vonage to a cable company. According to the cable company, Vonage blocked my phone number from porting. Instead of calling the FCC's number, I did file a complaint to FCC with the situation on FCC's website.

I waited to see how many days I have to wait so that I can take my phone number to other company. The different issue that Vonage didn't assign my phone number. My phone number was transferred to Vonage from cable company.

Weird Ad on mycricket.com front page

Tuesday, July 7th, 2009

When I saw the free Samsung R211, Cricket A100, or A600 modem on the web for July 4 special. I didn't see the free activation since June. I saw MyCricket.com on the metro buses at metro station in June. There is something weird about the ad. I saw the free activation but the sale rep didn't see it. Sale rep. told me that the free activation was ended in July 6. However, I saw the deals before July 4 but I didn't see the activation free until July 6. Yes, I did a test to follow through everyday even on July 4 to see the cost for each phone . The sales rep. told me that they changed the site everyday.

However, I refreshed the ad by using different browsers like FireFox, Opera, Safari, etc but I still see the deal.

Attached is pictures of the ad on July 7, 2009 at 7:02 AM after having a chat on-line with their representative about the deal.
